

How did this college start

The inception of our seminary can be traced back to the vision of Dr. Antonio Young, a dedicated pastor with a passion for enhancing biblical awareness. Dr. Young, a gifted teacher and preacher, felt a divine calling to lead a congregation and founded ACGH Christian Bible Seminary in 2011. Initially established as a diploma-based school, technical service provider for churches, and a platform for advertising church events, the seminary has evolved into a research-based institution.

At ACGH Christian Bible Seminary, we prioritize biblical research and adhere to the King James Version of the Bible while also acknowledging the significance of the Ethiopian Bible in international contexts. Dr. Young's educational philosophy emphasizes empowering students to delve deeper into biblical studies, drawing from his extensive experience in various Christian denominations and churches.

Having witnessed the limitations of traditional Christian colleges in fostering spiritual growth and revelation among students, Dr. Young recognized the need for a more holistic approach to education. ACGH Christian Bible Seminary initially offered a range of services, including educational programs, technological support, and website design for churches, before transitioning into a full-fledged college.

Dr. Antonio Young, a native of Meridian, Mississippi, and raised in Phoenix, Arizona, pursued ministry education alongside a career in software engineering and computer systems administration. His deep-rooted connection to his African American heritage, tracing back to the Baluba people of the DRC Congo, informs his approach to education and ministry.

Through ACGH Christian Bible Seminary, Dr. Young continues to fulfill his calling to equip students with the knowledge and tools needed to deepen their understanding of the Bible and strengthen their faith.
